EQUINOX

Equinox flower, also known as spider lily , is a flower that blooms in east asia area. Since these scarlet flowers usually bloom near cemeteries around the autumnal equinox, they are described in Chinese and Japanese translations of the Lotus Sutra as guiding flowers that grow in Diyu (also known as Hell), or Huángquán, and guide the dead into the next reincarnation.
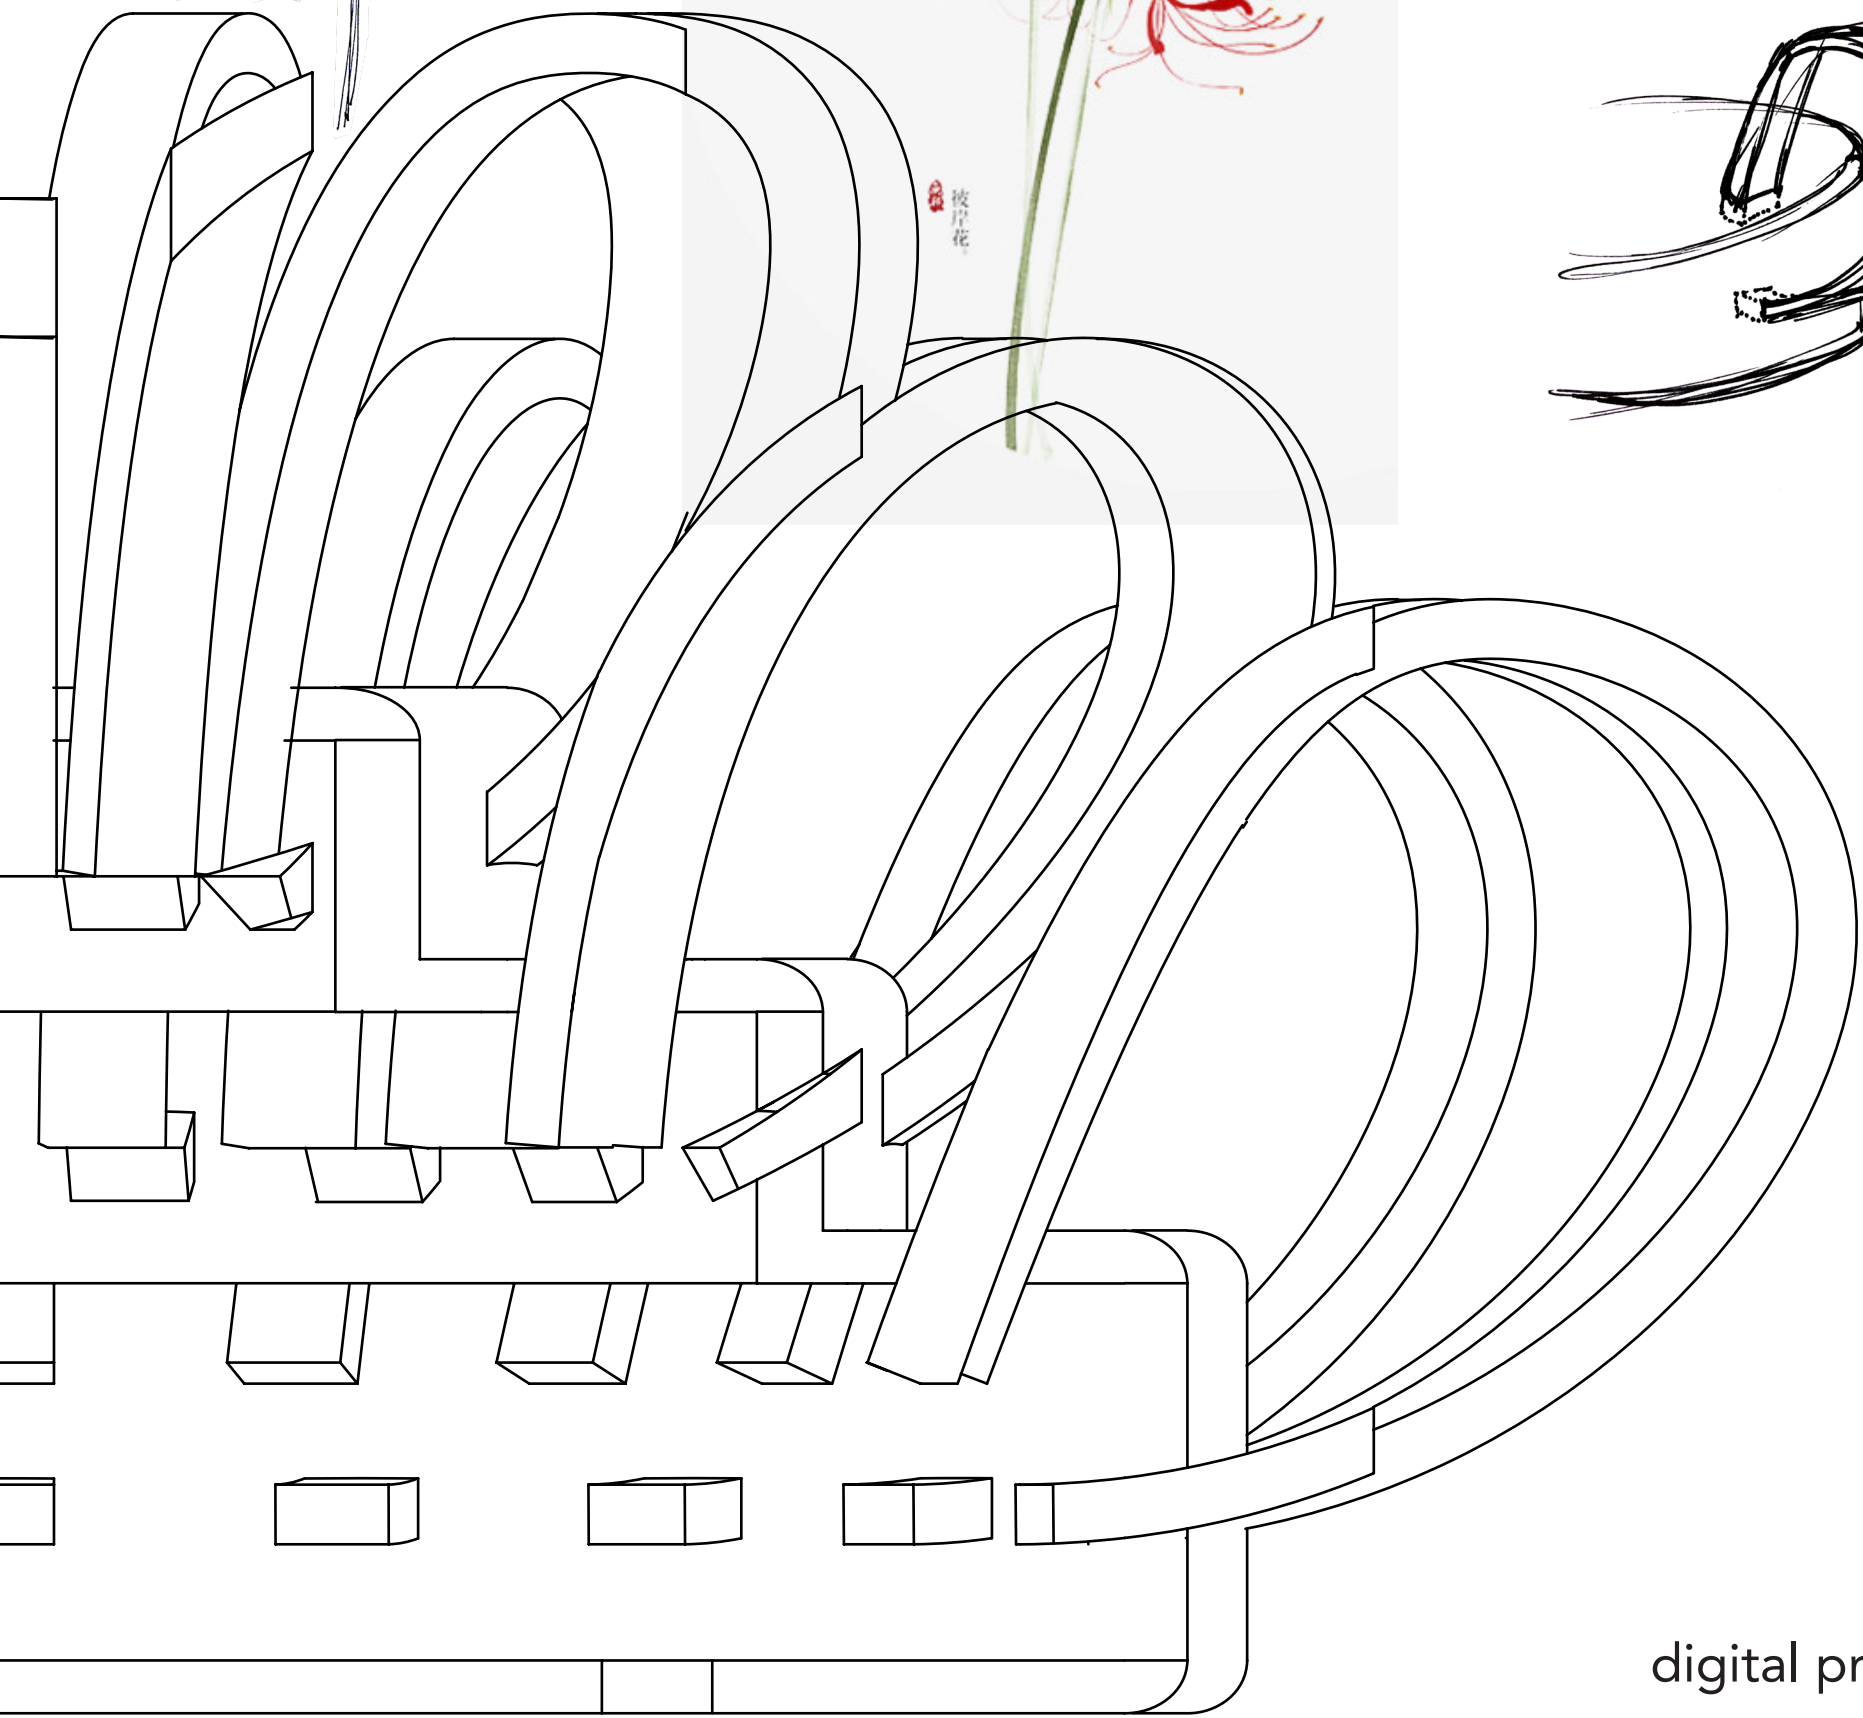

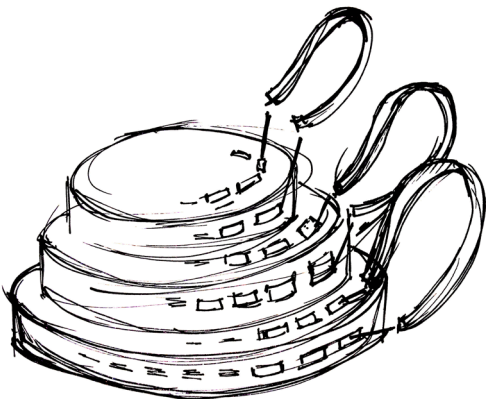

To meet the ledgend of the guiding flower, I created this lamp with repeated flower petals surrounding the center with a circular motion, to metaphoriz the transmigration and rebirth of human life.

inspiration

detail drawing

digital progress